As we see, we are trying to share the future under the full cooperation in Eurasia land. We find several nations in a land, and standardized infrastructure and systems could seek new possibilities in a land.

Under the full use of new technologies, we are trying to create a contemporary society and reality. As we see, Hyper Loop could be a new core transportation system as the next generated car system.

We may know there is a massive possibility under all its alliance and cooperation. How could we imagine all new developments under consensus and collaboration?

These are new steps from AIIB. We need an agreement of related nations.

A new transportation system must link core cities, and standardized communication and infrastructural measures could be used by its residents.

We are trying to build all new dreams in a land. Politics could ask for all agreement and cooperation to realize the future.

We may design the land under plans that are all agreed upon. As we see, we have all new possibilities to unify its realities and new space ages that we could step into the unknown future.

What can we see under all these agreements and realities? All new technology could make it possible to build new realities in the future.

All these are under the agreement of all politics and trying to cooperate to design the land.

New possibilities may be limited in a part of reality but expand to any opportunity we may dream of.
