

AFTER Corona Prediction

KURODA International Foundation

Takeshi Kuroda

Corona's reality is behind a social transformation in a new technology and system. On the other hand, the truncation of the weak and the deterioration of national finances. We believe that these have provided a complete transformation of the social system.

Therefore, in the after-corona, political choices are greatly asked the world and I think that it gives the reality of the world.

Moreover, the existence of a new technological civilization cannot be denied. The trend has people's admiration.

Developing countries do not have new lifestyles in developed countries, and the world's leading trends, on the other hand, dominate the world.

The self-standards of the world's super elite give control of the new world. These are the realities that predict the dichotomy of the world. It is a follow-up to the cutting edge and elite, and a fall to it. These are clear divine of all nations.

It is unpredictable what kind of world will be given when people confront these absolute realities. These are the new kings doing a new world. New realities such as participation in space cannot be denied.

Therefore, in building a nation, seeking self in these standards and building equality with the world is a means of survival.
