

KURODA International

Create the future

After Covid-19

KURODA International Foundation

Takeshi Kuroda

The deterioration of national finance is a change in the corona wreck, and is the same in the world. The strange reality is that the stock market is rising and we want to see what's behind it. These will definitely need future measures as the reality progresses to integrity.

These are required to build health finances and to improve public finances under the new tax system at an early stage.

They carry out social transformation by building new IOT technology and social life, and fiscal consolidation by reducing their spending and new tax system.

These believe that a political presence is inevitably required to respond to reality, such as building a new society and improving the political environment, along with participation in changes.

In response to changes in the future, the normalization of the nation should be required in the construction and transformation of social life, and in the new environment and choices in politics.