

China-US alliance

KURODA International consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

Two top world presence ask for the alliance to make the entire decision of the world.

These are given to agree on the outside.

Asking for peace and the decision for the world comes with both benefits.

A return to American unilateralism is a win-win for building a self-presence in the new world.

These could be new laws of the world. It means they can make decisions.

The change in the current world situation is that the United States has abandoned its self-presence in the world, and it is possible for these alliances to have a completely new world control and they can agree to build peace.

We, KURODA International consulting, propose vision and ideas.

These are the creation of the future.

Russian matter must be solved by its alliance.

There we may ask for our new world order. Alliance moves its military force under the same purpose.
