Create the future

Reality with mass production and market system

KURODA International Foundation

Takeshi Kuroda

Business proposes new production any times with Market, and all these are the progress of the world. Lives are more with comfortable to the futures.

These mass production and lives are all trend of ages as it is called career and trend. MBA and all IT giants are more than accepted with all admiring.

But reconsider all reality and asking the future we could have more than doubt for all reality. Due to we have to ask the futures.

All aims are with all business, and we all have no doubt for any realities.

There should ask new decision to the politics, and we may ask only with the futures.

Asking all solution with reality that is all duty of politics we could ask.

New social system could be considered under all progress of technology and philosophy may ask hopes to the futures.

Any challenge with all progress of academics could ask new possibility to the world and any cooperation would seek a new to a reality.
