

Diplomacy

Office
of
KURODA International Consulting
Takeshi Kuroda

The way we may expand our world, we are trying to make new diplomacy. Facing an all-new world, we are trying to make our world.

We raise our philosophy and any vision out of any profit. We are trying to gather to build up a new reality in the world.

Who is trying to be against the new world order? That is an opportunity for us to work for.

We may imagine that to gather economy and military, how we may stand against the world?

To disclose all information, we have a change in all reality.

Bilateral diplomatic negotiations with all nations will enable the creation of a new world based on an agreement to renounce war and unite the world.

As all above, we are facing equally to the world. That means we may ask for all our decisions for the world.

We may try to imagine that not an Anglo-Saxon mission but our decision. That means out of all racism but paradise.

We are gathering under ideals, but we are not trying to be away from the future.

This is a decision from KURODA International Consulting.