

Dream

KURODA International

Takeshi Kuroda

The dream may not be an illusion, but its action may be realized in the future.

We may not ask for even an excuse, but action gives the reality.

Any plan is all promise of the future.

Above is proof that we may dream the future out of imagination but reality itself.

So just do it then it comes.

A detailed plan permits any vision, and new cost standards make it possible.

We may put any measure and standard in the highest and even more in any comparance.

This is a way to make anything possible.

Academic gives all possibility to any dream as the promise of realization itself. That due to progress of it is the same measure of any realities.

How may we realize them all? Try not to lie but tell the truth.