Economic supremacy

Kuroda International Foundation

Takeshi Kuroda

Economic supremacy creates wealth of life. Moving to recent ages economic analyze and handling under politics is priority of the world.

But on the other hand, this creates socially vulnerable. Equally seeking the world as economy has competition that all its hierarchy could be given unfairness.

There require all its considering. Economy is use for lives and may not be a purpose. If the world treat economy as purpose that competition is a law and we could see all winners and losers.

This is a base to seek a new world. All system bases upon economy that is all reality out of any doubt. Bases with new philosophy that we need to know all purpose of beings.

There are backing to Greek ages that we cannot still find the answer. These are liquidation of history and seek the futures.

As any education is forwarding to all realities. On a bases of new philosophy that is surely permitted to seek the futures.

All social progress is from Western root. All technological progress may not be stopped that we have to make decision.

Ask all peoples that they could give you an answer as you have to give them an answer. This is all duty of politics.

All these conversation among politics with peoples that might give a full solution as any participation of all intelligence.
