

Foreign affairs and the new reality we met

KURODA International

Takeshi Kuroda

With a new step in the world, foreign affairs may open new possibilities for a nation. There are all realities settled today.

We may try to seek a new reality for a nation. Further actions need that under any calculation by politics that could ask for its presence by foreign affairs.

There is justice from a western camp called liberalism and humanity. The world covers the same philosophy.

But asking own foreign affairs, we could ask for any difference from existing. The point is we may offer the new.

There we found a new world under the new philosophy. That gives all permission for foreign affairs.

The construction of a new reality is based on seeing any possibility for the future. They have their tails called the new world order. That causes us a new decision.

Equal standing points must be required with the same reality as politics, industry, education, society, and army forces as so as for all.

We need new philosophies and ideas to face equally to the world.

This is a challenge to ask self equally to the world.