

Forming a unity in housing supply and agreement

KURODA International Foundation

Takeshi Kuroda

A standard housing supply of 1 billion units will be provided at a cost of 1.5 million yen per unit, and the unification of Asia will be formed based on the agreement. In addition to providing kitchens, all-electric environments, and furniture, we will reduce costs in mass production. The free provision by the government will realize the development of new national infrastructure. Infrastructure development and industrial development under the next-generation transportation standards will be carried out in the region along with social standardization. These want to provide an advanced IOT environment and a smart home environment. We would like to provide these by reducing the cost of housing building materials in advanced technology and mass production.

Along with the development of a core city as a smart city, the region will be developed in collaboration with next-generation transportation.

Education must provide the right development of children, as well as cutting-edge, efficiency, and environmental improvement. In addition, we would like to make education free of charge up to university education.

These agreements will realize the new possibilities as an agreement for the unification of Asia.
