

Freedom and equality

KURODA International

Takeshi Kuroda

Freedom is an escape from a compulsory society. And it gives hierarchy. Freedom and equality give contradictions when both exist.

We see the richest and most poor in all realities of the liberal camp. We have to answer under equality.

This gives the correct explanation for what exists today.

On the other have, there is the justice of truth and laws. We have to ask a question about how we may seek the future.

Calculation by philosophy who may insist right world.

In the truth, we have pain and suffering still in the world, and who is seeking paradise in the future.

The social vulnerable must speak their voice to the future.

There is a song called imagine by Mr. John Lennon about how we may calculate the world under all these lyrics.

All politicians may try to answer all these questions.

The world with contradictions but a world with the truth.
