

KURODA International

Create the future

Consideration of the means of economy and one's purpose

KURODA International Foundation

Takeshi Kuroda

In the past dominated by survival requirement, the affluence of the economy was the purpose and glory. The foundation of survival had war and gave the past. Overcoming survival builds affluence that guarantees survival, and humanity can give itself to a new stage in the transition of labor to machine production, the development of people's social abilities in academic progress. ..

It is true that human beings are all animals nature and their survival is everything. But it is also true that intelligence leaves survival and gives itself. These can get the distribution of human progress.

This is John's Apocalypse. Therefore choice is sought in the Life of Book. On the other hand, it has a New World Order. The decisive battle is the disclosure of information and the development of the military. Coordination with space enables its superiority in military power.

It is the humanity, not the beast, that has progress in the world.

In this, we ask for victory or defeat. Winning or losing gives ownership of the world.