

Moral and decision

KURODA International

Takeshi Kuroda

Society under capitalism gives decisions under its capital. But we may ask for social responsibility and calculation of its participation in society for its fee called tax payment.

Society has its effort on its tail of self-construction. Capitalism has provided itself with capital. But participation based on morals and asking for a fair tax system could give a new vision of society.

This is an idea for providing society with its participation equally to all peoples.

A participation fee may be called a tax that is under morals. These are a requirement of the new social system of its base.

Society, under the definition of capitalism, is calculated by capital. But Moral bases make the difference.

Any efficiency could give himself with technological progress. That gives all used to life and any field of society as we may judge under capitalism or morals.