

National framework

Kuroda International Foundation

Takeshi Kuroda

Participation in world reality is possible in an equal military and economic, academic environment and social life. Because the world still has war. This is because politics seeks self in cutting edge in the world and demands with own nation. The reality of power politics is that it has World War III behind the military-industrial complex.

These are the quest for the end of history, and the conflict of civilizations no longer has a choice.

These are that the right politics gives the only right nation, and all justice is tested and its truth is questioned.

These are the powers of politics, politics makes it possible, and politicians need to be aware of it.

These are the creations of the right world, and good intelligence has the creations of the future.

But reality asks the world in reality. All justice bows down before power.

These are great lessons. History has its civilization and nation, all of which has a past, and is now the end.

All beings have participation in the war, and their winners seek their eternity.