

Need for human resources

Kuroda International Foundation

Takeshi Kuroda

Ability and insight are that human resources have the ability to create any reality. Therefore, the promotion of human resources enables the creation of the future and realities.

Therefore, all talented human resources can be brought together to achieve a clear purpose and reality for the creation of a new world and the construction of a nation.

These are their needs, and correct judgment and understanding can have a future.

The mobilization of all these intellects, along with the decisions of the leader, will inevitably enable the creation of the right future.
