Participation in world politics

KURODA International Foundation

Takeshi Kuroda

World politics has a core presence in America's leading edge and society, the NATO army, the Russian army, and the PLA army forces. These are the realities, and participation in reality is participation in world politics.

Information dominates the world. If you know your enemy and you know yourself, there is no danger of a hundred battles.

Industry is the cornerstone of the nation, and its cutting edge gives it an own presence in reality. State development plans the development of the state in the organization and political foundation, and the state in affluence seeks participation in the world, independence in the correct development and education of the people.

Diplomacy is a necessity in maintaining self-independence. Acceptance in the consequence and ideas requires the state to build on the right self-building.

Progress in academics is the correct evaluation of the nation. Academics are required to maintain and operate the nation in all fields.

Society and life are required to be wealth and use with cutting-edge technology in a clear understanding and planning in politics. These are the foundations of everything, and the people have a need to give a nation.

The right to own wills and self-decisions must not be lost by politics from the people. The rule-of-law nation protects this.

Right political actions must be received by the peoples.
