America is clearly the world's superpower. There is no comparable nation. Their reality is space technology and bases, advanced industries, well-developed society in IOT and social infrastructure, capital power, political environment and political system, the world's best technology and environment in the military, education system, basic research environment, etc. is there.

It is required in political planning and understanding that they make their country equal in all comparisons. There was clearly an era in which all nations followed America, the ideal of freedom they had, a state-run system of responsibility in autonomy, excluding coercion.

Political plans establish the reality of goals and embrace the ideal of one's ideology. All planning plans will improve the efficiency and cutting edge of capital for infrastructure development in their own industries. To foster industry, plan and realize the world's leading edge with domestic capital and construction in all fields. Education is clearly the future, the most important thing to keep in mind, the content and the environment. Achievement of all goals is based on political consensus, such as the development of space technology and conversion to domestic market, the development of weapons in domestic production in the military, and the construction of an environment in politics and information gathering and analysis. Share your understanding and achieve your goals.

These are political decisions and actions such as national development in fiscal spending, efficiency and cutting edge, financial planning and fostering of domestic industry, industrial construction in domestic market, and building relations with the equal to the world in diplomacy. It makes these possible.
