Rising technology and the world

KURODA International Foundation

Takeshi Kuroda

There is all competition with a new technology. These are creating new futures. As Western root they are seeking new futures.

Since new business are with IOT and new social system that is more than all past, but future itself. There is separation with new hierarchy. These measures must be reached under any industries. That is only a permission to be participated with.

All new competitions are with new technology and systems. These are computer ages that what is.

That you may know all top industries are with the highest technologies. These completions are with new lives.

All trend and wealth are covered with whole world. That you may never deny with new society and lives.

These are under with competition principles. Losers may not talk the word.

You may try to know that to reach as GAFAM. It is more than all difficulty to climb up Himalayas

No one could deny all presence.
