Instead of all conflict of reality, if we can share the same vision of the world, what should be the difference we may find with the world?

We have all conflict included by all wars, even with any history of this planet, but seeking the future, we have a choice of it.

We may find if all these tails find the same agreement by any nations of this planet, we can share it and seek a new world.

And we know that these are efforts of international society under the lead of the Western camp.

Who may propose it to the world if we can change all our minds under new ideas and visions?

We have an idea that, as we proposed, all these are the new realities under agreement by all representatives of any nation. and only to be accepted by fairness, not unfairness. And we all know any reality that covers the world.

We may know we are trying to end all history and create a new future.

We are trying to change all our attitudes to make the world new. And we can propose a new consensus for the world.

If we, as the Asian Union, could propose and share new world visions with the world, we may bring new realities and changes to the world.

We have a choice, which is a new direction we may take to all realities. And we can ask who may follow them and try to gather a new reality within the world.

And we may share the answer that hope is a proper choice for all beings.
