

The collapse of the world and the future

KURODA International

Takeshi Kuroda

The world is approaching its collapse under a new world order plan. There is all control of the world that we spend ourselves in any realities.

The world government gathers new world order for their new futures. New world order is their plan and vision for the future.

There is all curiosity that nobody knows all these realities. That is all reality and tails of everything.

The only possibility that we can do is send another vision and plans. That means we have to do other reality to face all truth of the world.

There is a word called revolution. There was a French revolution that was a Bourgeois revolution.

We may imagine that if all information is disclosed, how does the world reflects against it?

Do we have a right to dream a future? That the world must answer.

We have all history, but we may find a hero within? That is all reason we have to seek captain America. In the description of the movie, he is the first hero.

In truth, we do not have a choice, and reality must cover the world.

Any reality is the appearance of truth, so we need all to learn.

Any information is a tool for survival. We have to be clever and wise.
