

The world and the future

Office of
KURODA International Consulting
Takeshi Kuroda

The hopeless world is a reality we face at this moment. We may try to be a hero for the sake of the world.

All belief is all base we may yell the future. And then we have the decision of self. That is challenging to ask from the world.

What is the answer? What you can see in all eyes. That is all truth we have to know.

Any politician has full responsibility for all reality. How many of them stay and take all responsibilities? How many are running away from them?

Under democracy, people may take all responsibility for their votes. This comes to all results, after all.

Great politicians must give people with his hope. And this is only a possibility of what we have.

This is a judgment for all politics.

Who gives you the future? That comes from real politicians.