

The world and from a sun rising nation

Kuroda International

Takeshi Kuroda

The world asks for a great reset. Waiting for a new world that we are facing.

There is a king, and he has a plan. That is a world and reality we do not know. But any fact must force us to make all its decision. The masses are happy in ignorance and suffer in wisdom. But all politicians know that there is no future in these.

But today, we have all new systems and technologies and waiting for a great reset which may be permitted to participate in a new world.

The masses are powerless when reality rules the world. Nightmares replace dreams to live the illusion, and living, in reality, is the only right choice.

Let me ask a question, is there even permission for you to seek the future?

This reality is actual, and we have to make a decision and action. This is the only permission we have.
