

The world with a new responsibility

KURODA International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

We may share the world, so we must share all its responsibility. It comes to a new world under new responsibility.

The world we equally ask for its responsibility means we would seek the same future. We may wonder who takes all responsibility for the world. But we have a responsibility that must be a right understanding we would participate in.

This causes a new world we may dream of a future. This makes us possible that we may ask for an agreement under all those realities.

Based on all responsibilities as we agree on the unification of the world. All these are creations for the future that we may seek for a new reality.

There is all decision by any nation. As we insist, it may not be ignored. Equal participation in the world means we may share all its opportunities.

We are offering a new agreement by the world. Under all new agreements is a creation of the new world.

With all these new worlds, we equally ask for their sharedness. All children may ask about their future in all these new worlds.

The world that is out of any rejections, but we equally share the same future.

This is all our proposal to any politician we may find in the world that makes it possible to create a new world.
