

civilization theory

2022/8/2

Takeshi Kuroda

From ancient, we have made progress. It is called wisdom.

Any region has its origin, but we have a world unification today called globalization. But to see any civilization that is all result of intelligence. Additionally, we must be sure that even with today's technology, pyramids may not have been built in Egypt. We may consider that technology is a measure of civilization.

One thing we have to be clear about is that intelligence is all progress of any reality as civilization. And the long time we spend in history and reach today. This progress is all history that we have to know.

In any part of a region in the world, we find all differences based upon its academic progress. In western reality, they progress in their academics that cover the world today.

We may know that all progress is from all necessities of life. Wars, as we have competition today, make it faster.

And all progress is accepted in a different civilization, and the unification asks him to complete them in one.

All the great men in history have done creativity. We must try to be wise that we have today to see all new heroes.

That is all new movement we can find in the United States today. All new technology and system create the future.

And we see all victory and defeat in wars of history. The winner always takes all.

The rise and fall of these civilizations indeed have their final arrival today. We may see western justice cover the world and seek the final count down.

This is the first time we have shared the same reality in life in the world. That proves all these are forwarding to the same goal.

Differences between civilizations ask for their conflict, it has been a history, and we could ask for different decisions now.

All these ancient kingdoms had a king. All kings seek their wealth, and we see similarly all the rich and reality we have.

We may ask who is a king today and who surely exists.

We see the difference today from ancient that comes from academic bases and education systems. It gives us to participate in the universe.

It proves that 12,000 years from a global flood finally completed themselves with a world. These were great dramas we have put ourselves within history.

We may ask who finally served its crown from a world. We must wish it may not be a tyrant.