

Comparative culturology

All realities have differences in civilization and culture. Reality is all based on the cause and reason. Understanding them gives civilization that is all progress of wisdom. Differences give reality in their needs and reality in their demands. The comparison of intelligence in culture and civilization is a comparison of itself. The construction of life and the construction of society represent civilization and culture. Language is an expression of culture and civilization.