

A shift from the logic of exclusion and denial to tolerance and reconciliation

Kuroda International Foundation

Takeshi Kuroda

These give society their own tolerance to all beings and agree in politics to provide their lives. Self-tolerance is given in tolerance, and the new world of reconciliation shares its future. This seeks a world examination of humanity and realizes the creation of a new world. Dropout in the principle of competition, in political action, give social participation and agree on assistance to the vulnerable in society. The possibilities in the new IT environment can provide the construction of society and life with the government. These are always possible in a world where all beings have dreams. It is the creation of a new world and the realization of the hope of the future.

These are given the creation of a world by providing the creation of opportunities equally to all. Reconciliation is the world's transition from conflict to peace.

The creation of these just worlds is that the world does its own integrity. These are required in the future having hope.

Education is the provision of self-development for all and the creation of the future of the world.

These new political agreements will surely enable the creation of a new world.