Create the future

Shift to a new society

KURODA International Foundation

Takeshi Kuroda

Mandating basic income and free education up to the university for all citizens gives them the opportunity to create the future and participate in new realities in raising the peoples with educations and building the foundations of life.

This will be realized as a foundation for politics to realize new possibilities and to create the future in technological and academic progress at the cutting edge, as well as the demand as a foundation for participation in space.

These are the guarantees of a basic life for all people, and a shift from capitalism and the principle of competition to socialism. Improving the national level in education will make it possible to create a new nation, so it will be free of charge and obligatory to university education.
