

Recognizing that compassion for the vulnerable is a requirement in the current world

Kuroda International Foundation

Takeshi Kuroda

The world has a trend in its cutting-edge society and the tide of the new world. Highly educated and career have envy of peoples that is a clear reality and has a new creation in the world. These face the new reality of truncation of the weak.

Advanced sociality in Scandinavia seeks for basic income and the creation of new societies, which means that the world has new choices for the above reality.

The realization of a society with zero environmental load and the solution of world problems are the foundations of the creation of the future, and technological progress clearly has the creation of a new world.

These are the things that the Next Society now has its breath as a reality, and the steps towards the future force the world to face new reality and make its choices.

These future timelines have a transition to next-generation society and life, and participation in a new era of participation in space.

The only thing to consider is to give the era of progress the absolute reality of the failure of the weak. It has a clear new hierarchy with those who do not get it to the reality of intelligence as technology and wealth in education.

Therefore, along with the equality of education, it is obligatory to give participation in society and the times to all beings. Participation in these new eras requires the rebuilding of bases for nation.