Recommendation of new education

Kuroda International Foundation

Takeshi Kuroda

The self is always given the education of the self in tolerance. This is the correct self-growth and learning human and social abilities. Full belonging and subordination to values is a mistake because it is a loss of self.

Love always gives self as the only choice. These are the development of a correct educational environment, and giving self to children is sure to have a future for the world.

These correct self-cultivations give the construction of the correct society and the development of the correct world.

These require change and transformation from reality to build a new society. In these, politics demands self-presence and the creation of a new world.

Mandatory from basic education to university education is a necessity in the new future, and free of charge provides equal opportunities for all children.

By the end of these educations, all children need to complete the necessary learning and selfdevelopment in social participation.
