

Proposals for future creation

KURODA International Foundation

Takeshi Kuroda

Realizing the future is given with any possibilities in self-determination and action.

The realization of the most ideal is possible. It can have it in political decisions and actions.

Presenting a vision, planning, and cost down reality in minimum cost standards and quality assurance in advanced technology departs from existing and makes the future a reality.

The future will be realized in cooperation with space and the creation of new society and life.

These will be done in the development of the most detailed political plan, the construction of a new society, the renew to a social system, the conversion of diplomatic policies, and the development of space technology in cooperation with space, as well as the conversion of one's own country.
