

KURODA International

Create the future

New decisions and actions for space station construction and space exploration

KURODA International Foundation

Takeshi Kuroda

The self-examined declaration of participation in space will be presented to space for self-development and infrastructure development. The development and gathering of human resources, in cooperation with the military, possesses advanced technology, and declares participation in space in the new era in the development of its own country and the building of good relations with space.

The self-development and research environment will be developed in collaboration with the space. Human resources share their plans and visions and participate in cooperation with space.

The base seeks its cutting edge and abundance, and gains construction in the cutting-edge technology of the times. They share a new environment for space participation in the region, develop spacecraft, and have a contact environment with space.

The participation of military personnel and the gathering of talented people in the world, along with the cooperation in regionality in the world and the agreement in diplomatic documents, realize these new possibilities.

These are the realizations of new realities based on diplomatic relations with all the space, and the realization of the nation's right to have its own independence in its own cooperative relationship.

These want to disclose the existence of aliens, disclose their agreement, and let politics realize it.