

A new world in the participation of vulnerable groups in society and the participation of all people

KURODA INTERNATIONAL FOUNDATION

Takeshi Kuroda

The agreement of the world's judgment on all human rights and humanity proposes an opportunity for the vulnerable to participate in society, an environment, and a new world in which all beings participate.

The judgment of equality requires the world to reexamine the reality of all beings, and the ideal of politics is to provide an equal living environment to all beings.

We believe that the improvement of the social education environment in local administration can provide the vulnerable to the search for an equivalent life in the learning experience.

These allow the creation of a new world to agree in politics a new world in the participation of all beings.

In addition, new trends such as basic income and share economy can seek equalization of the world.

These, as neo-socialism, propose the creation of a new world of equality and humanity in response to the communist state's loss of public opinion in its past coercion and abuse.

Office to access the world.