History is the only one that exists in war. This is the history of denial of the weak. The birth of America has surely given a new world in the 20th century. Their ideal was accepted by the world.

These were one ideal of freedom and American-style life. But they still have self today. They have the creation of a new technological civilization.

These have the reality of the world with the new era of participation in the universe. American unilateralism has shifted from responsibility as a guardian of world order to the pursuit of their dreams. The world must seek itself at its own risk.

Their new reality proves this in their new life and society.

Absolute presence in the world is a reality. The military and space technology, the political base and industry and society, and the academic environment all surpass the world.

These require the choice of all nations to participate in the reality of the world. It is that the development of one's own country in independence is based on its academic measure and requires equal self in all. It is not always impossible in political judgment and action.

These are the choices of the future for all nations and kings.
