

A Chinese decision

KURODA International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

China will completely sever diplomatic ties with Russia and declare its participation in the international community under international rules.

They clearly define the provision of basic livelihoods to the people and express the UN Human Rights Commission's acceptance of all inhumane realities.

All these are participation in International society and accepting the same rule in the future.

The pivot in diplomacy will shift to an Asian unity, presenting a new self-presence in the world.

These are the realization of a new self-participation in friendship, based on good relations with all the nations of the world.

These foundations will realize the development of the country's society as a next-generation society on a large scale, and declare the construction of the country based on an excellent society and life.

They offer all nations a world free of suffering and war, and their cooperation realizes nation-building on a new diplomatic basis.