Power games may not find the end of games. Conscience and humanity must be righteous judgments to seek the future we can find. But all reality asks for a new power under their justice.

The demand for survival is the absolute justice of the world. Dreams and hopes may be illusions.

But we all have a duty and responsibility for the world and the future. So we have to act and take new steps in the world.

To make a new world, we need our world vision. That is a new design of the world. And we see we need new rules and laws. That gives us the truth. All these are based on a new philosophy.

We can see that any progress in the world's reality is all from Western socialism of its progress. But we now have a new sense of necessity to find the future.

Western justice and polarized materialism have their future in new technologies.

But under all these realities, we can't find a way to solve all the world's problems. These must contain irony.

But we see it is true that United Nations staff lost their lives on a humanitarian mission in the Gaza Strip.

There are wills of the winner and lies of a loser. These are the choices of the world.

The future is under the choices. We have all doubts about where we can find them.
