New efficiency, productivity, and creativity create a new world. These are the latest business standards of a new reality.

These are the IT Revolution and the Industrial Revolution that we have today. These are the opportunities we are facing and permit us to seek a new business.

We could reconstruct any reality of enterprise under the new measures and ideas.

All these are the proposals for the new corporate system. The governance of cooperation may be calculated using big data containing all product, parts, production, customer, and market data. And IT system may automate all running of cooperation.

Creativity must reach originality when accumulating soft assets. Technology must make new use of the products.

New intelligence must be based on any progress in academics. These are the latest standards an enterprise must follow to run a business.

We could run any business to new standards. These are any progress of MBA. That is all the decision of business and enterprise.

To see a market, we need to reach the top business trend. These are based on new cooperate systems. Production systems in enterprises have new-generation standards of productivity and quality requirements.

All these are new opportunities for any industry to reconstruct itself and seek its regional decisions. We could redesign the enterprise using new choices and standards. They have new efficiency and cost advantage in business. That is a new opportunity for us to step into all the changes in the market.
