

A reality of the weak

Kuroda International Consulting
Takeshi Kuroda

The logic of the strong is the legacy of war. It is also an ecological reality. These realities call for a judgment on the reality of the weak. On the other hand, intellectual progress has the reality of the creation of intelligence as opposed to the reality of the law of the jungle.

In the history of the war, there was no right to live for all the weak. To obey reality was only their choice. Wordless means violence was a justice.

There is all dream which people have dreamed in the past. How many of them are realized?

Suppose the world agrees with equal reality for all. We may consider that the logic of the strong must be rejected but a new world.

The world, as it is called paradise, might not be an illusion. Politics could make all decisions under the new creation of the world. That requires a new consensus.

This is the world all people make its participate without exceptions.

Ancient gives the law of the jungle. But all curiosity we share is that even today's realities follow this law.

The progress of intelligence creates a challenge and asks for world creation.

Ancient gives recent. We must follow the progress of the world. That is all answers we have.

Voice could give a world. All socialist makes his challenge to see hope and the future.