

A reality we have with the world

November 13th, 2023

Kuroda International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

We find all the presence of the world that is under all power and wealth. But we only have a choice to follow the reality that exists.

If we could lead the world, we have a decision. We insist on our visions that may seek a new world.

It is a power game that we can not be away from. And realists may only seek for a world.

All reality we found today must be all from the Western camp. That is what we have to follow. If we ask for its independence, we have to do it ourselves.

Own independence only allows the future. That is all my effort to the world.

And we see national security may only be based upon our independence. That is the only choice and righteous consensus of the nation.

All these are given under political decision itself. We need the correct consensus for national management.

Do we have an idea of sharing equal responsibility for the world? What could be changed if we had all these attitudes?

Any conflict today we have in the world might ask for its solution by power and humanity. And all hatred may not be solved under all these realities since these are the power games we must know.

That may be all the reason we need a new world vision that we could agree with all.

Courage may be a new step we are trying to take in the world.