

All competition in a business field

KURODA International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

The competition gives a winner and a loser. Those who occupy the market are all winners who make victory in competitions.

We have the highest technology and systems. All these are occupied by all who have a victory in the business field.

This is only a base we could expect and forecast for the future. All these competitions gain colossal capital.

In reality, free economic systems are kings and kingdoms in the Warring States period.

We found that all new technology and systems are now the business trend. Under capitalism, capital is a decision. That is the truth.

But all necessity is to make a victory under all this competition. That requires cooperative efforts to make all core competence in the market.

We are asking new vision for the running and standard of the new product. To compare them to the latest market, we find all realities of facing new business standards.

.Creativity is acceptance of the new market. We need all understandings for products that only permit in all demand of customers.

The best always win the competition. This can be the goal and the standard.

All this means that if we ask for a new standard for a company, there are differences in realities we could seek.

What is a dream right in front of you all? It is only asked for a new step.