Who knows the best of the truth of the world? He makes himself in the most profound confusion. He could not expect the right reality as he expected. That means he does not know the truth. But he may be in touch with the world for the first time.

He is totally frightened by any realities. And he has to know he is trapped. And this is the only reality we have in the world.

Behind the Anglo-Saxon mission and the military-industrial complex are still their kings.

And all these truths only contain any reality of the world. Above only, we could work for any reality we prefer.

But we need to know above only we could handle in any reality of the world, as we should try to seek any result.

This is the only permission of any politics. That means politics is not toy games.

And this is a result of power politics.

Realists may be only permitted to participate in the realities. We can not find a dream in this world. This means both truth and irony.

Under these realities, we can seek to win. The only chance is once.
