

All different backgrounds seek to share the same vision and consensus

October 20th, 2024

Kuroda International Consulting LLC

Takeshi Kuroda

We may insist on the reorganization and recreation of all reality. These are the progress of any reality from its history to a new world.

We come from all different backgrounds and try to agree and share the same consensus to recreate the world. We have a choice to face all the realities of the world, and we can share the same world and its visions.

All these varieties of reality are the result of this planet's history, and all new talents are common under globalization.

The standardization of any reality is underwritten by its progress in realities, and it is a reality the world asks itself with its common.

These are any habits we follow, but the world may accept itself if we have a new world vision.

The reconstruction of the world is all about using academics in any field. Recreation is under the use of all these academics. Then we find all new talent with a high education and the skill and ability to make the world new.

Academics are familiar with the world and make all discussions and arguments to redesign the world itself.

Under all these realities, we fully use new technology and systems, which change any life conditions and create a new society.

Next, society could be redesigned by all conditions and fundamentals, and these may be allowed under any decision of all politics.

We may not deny any possibilities, but we must make them a reality.