

Any conversation in the international society

December 30th, 2025

KURODA International Consulting LLC

Takeshi Kuroda

To share the same future, we have a tool called dialogue. And any consensus may be the promise to be realized in a new future.

To be in touch with all reality, we are only permitted to ask for any argument that may lead to the same ideas.

And all these are in the progress of humanity and aimed at sharing its arguments to reach a consensus.

These are conversations with highly intelligent people, and we are working to ensure their cooperation is successful.

We have advanced academic tools to redesign the world under new systems.

These are the tables that we may decide the world and the future. We need our ideas and visions to ask for a settlement of all realities.

The deepest consideration and the highest intelligence may find a new world.

Under all these circumstances, we may reach a new world, and no forces cause it, but by all progressed intelligences.

Conversation is a way to share the same ideas and visions. We need our considerations to make new ideas and visions.

Politics does not limit these, but from any field of the world, we have all been invited to a new world itself.

All new descriptions of new pictures of the world must require will and ambition.