Market principle and the economy first give progress. There are creating all comfortability with reality.

A new revolution with systems and technology is truth, and competition gives the excitement of reality today.

The market is offering all new ideas under a free economy. This system has self-creation and self-help solutions.

Socialists and socialism are yelling about morals and the failure of systems. These are with political morals to ask about the future.

These strange social systems are constructing reality.

Self-progress of the economic system has ideals that are asking steps.

Business is the solution of its part of its habit. They are creating wealth for society and life.

The market exists under its control of self. It must be called business. This free economy and system is a justice of the Chicago School of their group. But this always causes creating a wealth gap. On the others, that market asks self with out of control but self.

The economic first principle occupies any reality of its trend. That says money dance.
