

Calculation of the future

March 21st, 2024

Kuroda International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

We can find the future in how we construct education and university. We see the entire environment of the United States of America. We can agree on all the results today we have with the world.

We must have 100 of the world's top universities in a region. They may give us the future and tail all new possibilities with their talent.

These are from political decisions and consensus. As it is, we must give all children a new education in a new environment.

We must know that education is not the way to make a tool but the way to give a self to them.

And we see with all circumstances we can forecast the future. So, all politicians must know all these understandings.

And to hold that tail of new technologies, we need all human resources. That is also from all these environments.

Any talent has a skill with its amount to realize any ideas and realities. Those who dare to learn all academics are the ones who give us the future.

We have to look at all the talent in the political field. Any skilled person has its tails of learning.

This is all the truth of reality we have in the world.

And if we seek for the future, we must make proper decisions.

