

Chaos

Kuroda International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

We must be away from all confusion, then wise must say the world is falling into our hands.

There must be chaos to reach a future. Under all circumstances, we have to determine our minds. That is a vision of self.

We need our world, and they have their world.

A choice always creates any realities. We have to see if there is a possibility of them. And act to realize them in the world.

Chaos is any basis to make things anew. We have a decision about the future under any confusion we must conquer.

Law, rule, and consensus may be common to the world. These are based on creating a new world.

We have all the power games in the world. The strength of a nation creates a better future. These power games propose a rational universal consensus.

To build self is needed by the key diplomatic alliance. That could be any bass to make any reality of the self.

Righteous acts and self must be all right to participate in the world.

Power balance gives us only permission to handle ourselves in reality. But we may cause all differences in reality under any vision of self.

We could forecast any changes that are called chaos. But we need the right direction of the future to handle a nation to the world.
