They have a history, but tyrants may steal the future.

They spend all tears of its people, and there end up their tears. What can we see?

All emperors have more than any wealth in their history, and who is trying to take full responsibility for their nations?

Only remind me of all tears of the weak in their history. If god exists, we must solve ourselves in the future.

There is the excitement of beautiful ladies in their history. Who is asking for a romance in history to the future?

Under new dreams of peoples, they may attend all celebrations of their future, but we see one-party dictatorship and power politics.

All hero is any admired in history. On the other hand, the people are not saved in any moment of theirs. A new philosophy from the west could give them a decision.

How will the bloody tears of people in their history be rewarded?

That must be proof. They need a right king.
