The conflict between power and the masses is a reality of the new world. Under all these circumstances, politicians must make their decisions.

There is a conflict between the alliance of Israel, England, and the USA with Iran, Russia, and China.

These conflicts compel all nations to make decisions that could lead to a third world war.

New powers should realize that under their decisions, all nations must face the coming changes. We are now permitted to recalibrate, in reality, by new diplomacies.

To view history only as a winner's makes a world in any case; if we had the same laws today, we would need our victories against the world.

We may expand new ideas, which means we may propose a new world vision.

Proper analysis involves examining all the data provided to inform new actions. And it must seek its success on its own, and it is only a possibility that we may realize our world.

If the world fails, the world needs a new design. And it must be with all the progress of our ages. And these are the progress of all history.

From all points of view, we have made our decision, which may not be subject to any directions, but rather all new dialogues and the use of any academic field in its progress.

We are from our office to argue and make new dialogues with the world.

You may find some ideas on our website. We are trying to make new cooperation for the future.
