

Creation of new technological civilization

November 25th, 2023

Kuroda International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

New technology permits the creation of a totally different civilization from the analog ages. We had an ancient age, but we have new realities with new technology today,

All these are bases to be digitalized any reality, and it could build all new possibilities above them.

We find the idea that the free economic system creates all these. But politics may make all decisions and develop them in the nations.

We need to hold a clear vision of the future that may be the promise we find in all coming realities.

Reestablish all industries that may be under the command of politics. We need all our decisions for the future.

These are the realities above on society 5.0 and industry 4.0. We have a chance to face new civilizations.

All these are the use of technology and new systems. That forces us to make the proper foundation of education and academics.

And we must see that all academic progress even gives us new realities. That means we have an opportunity to recreate the nation to all new possibilities.

All new technologies create new possibilities in any field or nation.

All these could be possible under all political consensus and actions. As we can see, all these are the creations of the future.