

Creation of the future

Kuroda International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

The future is only by choice. It was, and it will be.

The king has a choice and decision for the world. On the other hand, we have a democracy that shows its ownership by the people.

How could we seek a whole agreement of the world? We come to see a difference that we have to know. An understanding and decision cause a different reality.

Since the agreement has informal consent, we can always propose the creation of a new world in the contract from the world's decision on its own.

If any nations could reach the same agreement, we could ask and see a new world.

The world is separated by and ask its conflict. We have to see if we may not find a solution under governing by its justice. That is a decision by world war 3rd.

So unification could be from making an agreement and sharing a new reality as the new world.

We have proposed unities of the world in the renunciation of national sovereignty, and these unities do not advocate individual interests but agree on common interests.

If the world has a basis of equality, the future with its potential may be given to everyone.

We now find a new possibility for the future. This is undoubtedly a dream in history. We now reach the future. That is what we have to know.