The collapse of the world is any reality we have with a world, and all its conflict has wars in the world. We are forced to make our own decisions against all reality we have,

Trying to cause one's reality asks any new actions of self to expand any reality that we shall seek.

We have sent all new visions of the world to face all existing realities. It may not be totally wrong since we need our world vision to stand against any reality we have with the world.

Under all these circumstances, we could argue with a world to share the future. These are the decisions we have today.

Conscience may be any agreement we can share and work for the world. A righteous world can stand against any reality of the world.

Out of any doubt, if the truth is disclosed, there are all resolutions we may have with the world. And there are all new concerns with the universe.

The choice is any direction we can cause in the future, and all politics may have them in their hands.

We tried to redesign the world, even moving its military to insist on the new world visions. And who may follow them?

We could propose discussing the world's future with anyone seeking something different from all realities.

All these are proposals from us to the world. All new possibilities are lying down right in front of us all, and we are determined to realize them all in new futures.
